

Associate Director – Oil and Gas

Job Ref: 0218, based in Hampshire, UK, salary range £50-£70,000 and benefits

In oil and gas, Intertek Metoc combines an excellent reputation, an exceptional team and first class relationships with several key clients. We are now looking for an experienced individual to make a major contribution to the leadership of the next stage of our growth in this market.

Intertek Metoc helps Asset Developers and Owners make sure that the engineering, consenting and operational issues associated with the environment are addressed in the right time and in the right way.

The right individual will have international infrastructure project background (ideally oil and gas), leading EIA activities with experience of on-the-ground implementation of environmental protection measures. The work will involve a range of projects both onshore and offshore with occasional short term overseas assignments. For the Associate Director post, candidates will in addition be able to demonstrate success in developing profitable client relationships and winning new business.

There are considerable career development opportunities for candidates demonstrating the commercial/managerial acumen to make a substantial contribution to the continued growth of this highly respected business unit.

The position requires a degree qualification, preferably to MSc level, in a relevant subject and the successful candidate is likely to have substantial supervisory experience of environmental consultants.

This post will be located at our main offices in Liphook, Hampshire.

To apply please send your CV with a covering letter outlining your suitability to:

Christine Perrin, HR Manager, Intertek-Metoc, Exchange House, Station Road, Liphook, Hampshire GU30 7DW
